- C. Recommendation to the full Board on the executive director's compensation level, structure, and adjustment process.
- D. Review of compensation for executives and other positions considered "disqualified persons" under the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) intermediate sanctions (including the executive director):
 1. The executive director will have primary discretion and authority for setting the compensation for all employees other than himself or herself. However, the committee will review compensation for all executives and employees who are considered "disqualified persons" (including the executive director), to ensure that their compensation complies with:
 - a. the Corporation's compensation philosophy;
 - b. the rules governing tax exempt organizations described in the Internal Revenue Code, including, but not limited to, the intermediate sanctions statute (Section 4958) and applicable regulations;
 - c. the compensation rules and regulations promulgated by any other applicable regulatory agency or legislative authority.
 2. The review will include all elements of compensation including: base salary, retirement arrangements, fringe benefits, and any form of compensation promised therein;
 3. The review will obtain and rely on comparable data the committee deems relevant and applicable;
 4. In the case of the executive director, the committee will base its recommendation on compensation upon this review.
- E. Review the Corporation's compensation structure to ensure that it complies with the compensation philosophy.

- F. Make a formal report to the full Board on the results of all reviews, including review of compensation for executives who are “disqualified persons” (including the executive director), and review of the compensation structure for compliance with the compensation philosophy.

III. Authority

The committee will make recommendations to the full Board regarding all plans designed and intended to provide compensation for the executive director and for such other senior executives who are deemed to be “disqualified persons” under Section 4958, as well as recommendations resulting from review of any other issue for which the committee has been delegated responsibility or authority.

- A. The full Board will have ultimate decision-making authority on any issue for which the committee has oversight. Final approval of the executive director’s compensation may only be determined by a vote of the Board.
- B. The committee will have authority to engage outside independent compensation, accounting, legal, and other advisors it deems necessary or prudent in the exercise of its duties, and to obtain advice and assistance from such independent advisors, in compliance with the Corporation’s Procurement Policy.
